Internet Radio & Network Audioplayer

NOXON Internet Radio & Network Audioplayer

With the NOXON, the entire world of today's radio comes to your door. Simply by pressing a button, you can listen to over 11,000 Internet stations from around the globe. Forget bland mass-market radio; the variety is simply endless. Whether it be your favourite station from your old hometown, exclusive Internet offerings of an in-demand station from another continent or commercial-free online radio from fans to fans—there is guaranteed to be something for everyone. With such an extensive choice, a clearly arranged sorting system according to country and genre helps. Once you have found some personal favourites, they can be stored on programme keys and easily retrieved later. The best part is that the computer can stay completely shut off.

However, there is even more out there to listen to, such as podcasts, pre-recorded features about an extremely wide variety of topics from the worlds of entertainment, politics and culture. Other offerings include radio programs and dramas available for listening at any time. The clearly arranged directory helps here too. Never again will you miss the most recent episode of your favourite comedy, the latest news bulletin from global finance capitals or any of the over 4,000 other offerings from around the world. Give it a try, there's so much to discover!

You want to listen to music from your hard drive? No problem. The NOXON is a versatile network player and brings the music stored on your PC or Mac everywhere in your home, very easily and without the need for any cables. Of course, in this case—but only in this case—the computer must be on. On the NOXON, simply choose the desired title from your music library. For technology fans: This naturally also applies for a Network Attached Storage (NAS).

Listen to music from these portals and services directly on your NOXON.
